This company preys on the native people who live and have lived on the land this company occupies. They lie about their intentions and don't have respectable reasoning for intervening in the lives of the natives...

“A wonderful listener! Did whatever I told him to do. You know, Simon himself helped send that very sensitive young man to medical school? He's my husband and I'm proud of all that he's accomplished...especially when we get to feel better about ourselves in the process.”

Sgt. Amusa ★★☆☆☆

“Really hard to move up within the company. Pilkings does not respect anything traditional or ritualistic—very ignorant if you ask me. I pray he doesn't read this. But how can man talk against death to person in uniform of death?”

“Worked in close contact with Sir....cursed a lot in my presence, made me uncomfortable and often forgot about my presence. Once asked me if ‘all that holy water nonsense also wiped out’ my ‘tribal memory’. I pray this is anonymous.

Olunde ★☆☆☆☆

“Could not accept the things [he] can't understand or help. His “property management” often interfered with the people who had been living in the area for ages...this had calamitous effects.”

Elesin ★☆☆☆☆

“Stopped me from fulfilling my destiny (even though I was hesitant to do so in the first place). But you did not save my life...you ruined it. I have lost the father's place of honour. And it is all because of Pilkings Property Management.

“Sent his subordinates to carry out most, if not all, of his wishes. What gives you the right to obstruct our leader of men in the performance of his duty? Both him and his subordinates are entitled and only serve to benefit themselves. Had a well respected community leader seized and taken away for simply doing his job and fulfilling his oath.”
